About Don Payne

Don Payne is a senior IT leader who provides strategic leadership, practical application, and successful implementation of information services and technology for all sizes of companies. He has worked in a broad range of industries that serve everything from local markets to global organizations.

Having held the positions as Vice President and Director for multiple corporations in all of the major IT disciplines, he understands the value of applying technology sensibly with measurable results in every aspect of corporate life—strategic planning, execution strategies, cross-functional collaboration, process development, operations, and organizational transformations. The industries he serves include banking, financial services, high-tech manufacturing, and electronics manufacturing. Don has been a leader and contributing member of multiple regional, national, and international projects. Familiar with the subtlety of cultural differences, Don has successfully implemented large global business-to-business (B2B) systems, global enterprise resource planning (ERP) infrastructure systems, country conversions to global ERP systems, and multiple merger and acquisitions (M&A) projects encompassing people, culture, process and technology.

For over eight years, Don has been involved with the Oracle Applications User Group (OAUG), serving on the Board of Directors as well as being a Past President.
